The Seven Laws of Sivashanmugam

- First Law: Anything which does not have divisibility cannot be divided.

  What is that which cannot be divided?

- Second Law: Anything which does not have comparability cannot be compared.

  What is that which cannot be compared?

- Third Law: Anything which does not have connectivity cannot be connected.

  What is that which cannot be connected?

- Fourth Law: Anything which does not have disturbability cannot be disturbed.

  What is that which cannot be disturbed?

- Fifth Law: Anything which does not have reorderability cannot be reordered.

  What is that which cannot be reordered?

- Sixth Law: Anything which does not have substitutability cannot be substituted.

  What is that which cannot be substituted?

- Seventh Law: Anything which does not have satisfiability cannot be satisfied.

  What is that which cannot be satisfiability?

Prepared by

Anna Justin
annajustinn@gmail.com